

A Truth About Tupac is a documentary film on the impressions we have of Tupac Shakur, and the multiple identities we continue to assign him years after his death — figurative and/or literal.

Was he a thug, a prophet, a rapper, a misogynist, an icon, a gangster, a political leader, an addict, an angel, an actor, a criminal, a tragic victim, a poet, a player, a genius? While most consider him an “artist,” A Truth About Tupac touches on the complexity of a human being who, for better or worse, seems to transcend identity.

PRODUCER/ DIRECTOR: Thea St.Omer

CO-PRODUCERS: Stephenson Laurent
Ann-Marie St.Claire

POST CONSULTANT: Jason Kohlbrenner

POST TECHNICIAN: Gavin Whalen

Special thanks to: James Richards
Fatima Faloye

Run Time: 28:20

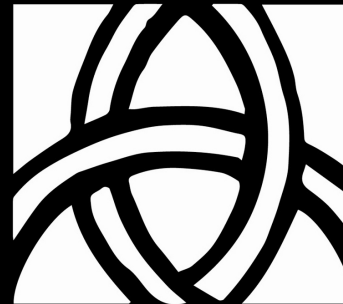

© Thea St.Omer, 2011, 2015. All rights reserved.

This set of seven completed films by Thea St.Omer is provided to reviewers for a special forth-coming edition of the online Moving Images section of Stone Canoe Journal, an arts & culture publication in Syracuse, NY. In accepting these films for review purposes, you agree not to sell or reproduce them or allow others to do so. July 2015.

A Truth About Tupac

A Truth About Tupac

A SHORT DOCUMENTARY FILM

click here to watch the film

"Only God can judge me." — Tupac Shakur